THINK
"IF" YOU WILL TAKE TIME TO READ THIS YOU ARE SURE TO THINK.
There was a time when it was almost the universal custom among conservative business men, to carry the risk of fire, accident, theft and death themselves and little insurance of any kind was written. Then, a man who carried large fire, accident, theft or life insurance policies was subject to criticism. Now the man who thinks he can do without protection along these lines is the one who is subject to criticism. The brightest and best thinkers of the age agree that insurance is necessary and that every man should carry an adequate amount. He should protect his property from loss by fire and theft. He should have accident insurance and have all he should have life insurance.

Most important of all Life insurance has come to be the most important. Most every man will agree that he should have fire insurance and he would not sleep "if" he knew that his property was not fully covered. But his property may never burn. He may never have a loss by fire or theft. But there is one thing sure he is going to die some time. When that time comes will his affairs be in shape. Will his dependents be able to live in as good circumstances as they once did? Will his creditors be protected? Is he sure that he will not die in debt? Is there any better proof that a man is honest, home loving, economical, prudent, thrifty, and sure to meet his obligations along all lines than the fact that he has his life adequately insured? Is there any way a man can guarantee that he will leave an estate; be buried in decency and honor with all obligations met other than life insurance? Can any man be sure of a competency for his own old age "if" he is not insured?

The Standard Policy
A $10,000 policy will pay your beneficiary the face of the policy for natural death. "If" death result from accident, the beneficiary will receive double the face of the policy or $20,000. Should you become disabled, either through sickness or accident, your premiums are cancelled each year for the balance of your life and you draw an income each year of one tenth the face of the policy or $1000 a year as long as you live and at your death your beneficiary will still draw the face of the policy or $10,000 regardless of how many years you may have been disabled and drawn the income and had your premiums cancelled.
This policy is so written that you can pay up in full in a number of years and from that time on the company will pay you interest until your death occurs. Or you can make it into an endowment and draw your money "if" you so desire. This policy can be written so as to give the beneficiary, your wife, son or daughter, an income each month during the period of their lives.

Easy To Do.
A small annual premium will give any man adequate life insurance and guarantee the future of his loved ones as well as help in safeguarding his business and maintaining his credit. Think it over seriously and get the information today from J. F. Hutchison, district manager, The Mutual Life of New York, office 371 State Street, Salem, Oregon. I can write you a policy that will please. I can prove to you that you need life insurance and that the Mutual Life is the company you can depend upon. (ADV) one's fortune and when persisted in invariably gives the insured independence, and an income for life.

What It Means
It is the best savings account because it is semi-compulsory and will be kept in force a fact proven over a period of 75 years. It guarantees protection for the home and business and makes for longevity. It builds up credit and makes it safe for banks and business houses to loan money or allow time on goods bought by the insured. It proves a foundation for
